LOCAL BRIEFS—

Our Local Chief has been in attendance during the present week upon Johnston Court.

Overcoats are not now considered unpleasant companions, especially at night.

The members of the Convention generally drew their first per diem yesterday.

Among other assignments made at Washington yesterday was that of Capt. Bristow as Quartermaster at the Post of Raleigh.

Everything is remarkably quiet in the city at present. No fights, and indeed nothing transpiring of any moment.

Rev. C. B. Hassell will preach in the hall of the House of Representatives on Sunday morning at 11, and at night at 7½ o'clock.

One begins to feel like sitting near the grate when he goes into a room, and inquiries about the price of fuel are becoming staples of conversation.

A large number of young ladies arrived yesterday to enter the Peace Institute, which school will, we understand, be more largely attended than ever before.

The pressure upon our columns from the Convention proceedings and matters pertaining thereto prevents us from giving that attention to local matters, which we would otherwise do.

The large numbers of subscribers that continue to reach us from all portions of the State is exceedingly encouraging. The many friends that are working for us so zealously in different sections have our heartiest thanks.

An effort is being made to establish a good graded school in this city for the whites. We learn that there is now in the County Treasury some $2,000 for this purpose, and in addition to this the Peabody fund adds 50 per cent. to all amounts so raised.

Our photographer, Mr. Shelburn, is engaged in photographing the members of the Convention individually, and when completed he will group them together in one body as they occupy seats on the floor of the house. All in all, it will be a fine-looking assemblage.

THE STATE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

THURSDAY, Sept 23.

The Convention met at 10 o'clock President Ransom in the chair.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. Marshall, of this city.

Journal of yesterday read and approved.

Mr. Reid, from Committe on Revision, submitted a report, being a substitute from ordinance submitting to the votes of the State the ratification or rejection of the amendments made by this Convention.—Passed second reading, ordered to be printed, and made special order for Saturday 12 o'clock.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, submitted a report in relation to the Robeson county contested election case, which was voluminous in its character and cannot be given as full as its importance demands.—The report in substance recites that the contestants, Messrs. McNeil and Norment, must have their right to the seats established by a comparison of the poll books, &c., and that all the testimony in the case must be before the Committee, and prays the Convention to take such order as it may seem necessary to meet the ends of justice, and recommend that the resolution ousting the present incumbents, Messrs. McEachin and Sinclair, do not pass. That the certificate of the Sheriff made out a prima facie case for the incumbents, and that it is for the contestants to rebut this and establish their right to the seats. That there was no competent testimony before the Committee on this subject. That the act of Assembly giving contested elections to the General Assembly, as applicable to this case, has not been complied with by either the contestants or incumbents.

This act does not apply, and the Convention must make rules to govern the case.

Mr. Chamberlain, rep., submitted a report in behalf of the minority of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, claiming that the contestants, Norment and McNeill, received a majority of the votes cast in the county of Robeson, and were therefore entitled to seats in the Convention; that the Board of Commissioners acted illegally in throwing out the vote from certain precincts whereby the present incumbents received their certificates of election. It alleges that the whole affair was a specie of fraud perpetrated for political ends. And this minority was of the opinion that this question did not come under the provisions of regular contests, the certificates of election having been given on improper returns.

Mr. Manning moved that both the majority and minority reports be printed and made the special order for Tuesday next at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Buxton moved it be made special order for Saturday at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Manning's resolution prevailed by a vote of 55 to 54.

Messrs. Shepherd, from Committee on Municipal Corporations, French and Vaughn from the Legislative Department, made reports from their respective committees.

INTRODUCTION OF ORDINANCES AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Mr. Stallings, an ordinance to amend sec. 3, art. 5 of the Constitution. Provides for the taxation of dogs. Referred.

By Mr. Avery, an ordinance providing for the establishment and working of public roads and bridges by taxation. Referred.

By Mr. Wheeler, a resolution to adjourn sine die. Lies over.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The bill to remove the disabilities imposed upon W. W. Holden by the Senate, sitting as a Court of Impeachment in 1871, was taken up as unfinished business.

Mr. Alberston, rep., as a member of the committee which reported unanimously adversely upon the bill, stated that the report was correct as far as he then understood the question, he not being then clearly of the opinion that this body had the right to act upon this question. But by a subsequent thorough investigation of the matter, he had come to the conclusion that this action might be termed "necessary legislation" ordered and allowed by the act calling the Convention. That this was a necessary incident attendant upon all bodies, and he did not deem the Legislature in calling this Convention meant to prevent such "legislation" as would be embraced in the passage of the bill now being considered. Whatever power of legislation the Legislature itself did not possess could not be included in the restrictions imposed upon this Convention, and hence he held that this action was entirely within the province of this body.

Mr. Hassell, dem., had not expected any argument upon the report of the Committee, as he had supposed the workings of this Convention would be abridged; this question was not introduced into the campaign, and he thought it should not have been introduced here; but it had been done, and those who favored it had discussed its merits fully, with a view, as he thought, if the measure could not be passed, to make political and party capital in the next canvass. In alluding to the leadership of Mr. Tourgee of the Republican side of the House, he said he would like to see the "native element" a little more prominent on this floor in the framing of this Constitution. He reviewed at some length the speeches of Mr. Tourgee during the sitting of the Convention, and characterized his allusion to Christ as a carpet-bagger as an insult to the Convention and as blasphemous in the extreme. The speaker then reviewed the action of Gov. Holden, for which cause he is now banned. He had at one time resolved never to vote again, but the actions of that official in organizing an army to make war upon the citizens of his State had absolved him from that resolution, and he had then voted to overthrow those in high places who could so act, and should continue to exercise this right in order to assist in protecting his people from such lawless actions. He then argued against the right of the Convention to grant the pardon asked. He favored pardon and amnesty in its broadest sense, and he would go with those who favored putting the pardoning power in the hands of the Legislature, and he doubted not the next Legislature would grant this pardon.

Mr. Barringer, rep., was a member of the Judiciary Committee, and still entertained the opinion that this body had no right to act in the premises, as no argument yet deduced had changed his opinion. He would vote for the removal of the disabilities of W. W. Holden on personal grounds, but not as a public right, as he did not endorse the action of Gov. Holden in 1870, deeming that he had pursued a course altogether wrong in the effort to accomplish the end desired. He did not approve of the Governor then allowing himself to be influenced by "carpet-baggers" and the negroes—the former did not sufficiently understand the wants and feelings of the people of North Carolina, and the latter had not been sufficiently long acquainted with political matters and the management of the affairs of the State to know what was the best to be done for the people of North Carolina. These people had improved in knowledge, and had become a power that was felt and recognized. He would cheerfully however, vote to place the power asked in the hands of the General Assembly, and let that body exercise that privilege. He was one of a Committee of three, that having seen the corruption that was being perpetrated under the Holden administration, visited that official and urged him to put a stop to it, but he had declined to do so, and hence he could not now sympathize fully with him.

Mr. Young, rep., argued that the power of removal of the disabilities of Gov. Holden rested with this body. He advocated the granting of this pardon, as a matter of right in this age of pardon. Gov. Holden may have had his faults, but these should be forgotten, and this man once more given the citizenship which has been granted to the people all over the State.

Mr. Clingman, dem., spoke in answer to the argument of Mr. Alberston as regards the powers of this Convention to act in the premises. He thought the only solution to the matter was the passage of a general law giving the Legislature power in all such cases.

Mr. Stallings, dem., stated that he did not think a minister of the Gospel lost his citizenship or his right to participate in the political affairs of the country. His personal feelings would lead him to remove the disabilities asked for, but he was not here to exercise these personal feelings, and he believed the only power this body possessed was to pass a general law governing such cases.

O'Hara, col., was surprised to see the feeling expressed on this floor against the removal asked. He argued against the ground taken by the opposition, believing that this body not only had the right to do this act, but should do it as a matter of justice to a man who should have the rights of a citizen.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, moved the previous question, but at the instance of Mr. Badger, the introducer of the bill, withdrew it.

Mr. Tourgee replied to the remarks of Mr. Hassell, defending his action upon the floor and especially his allusion to the fact that "Christ was a carpet-bagger." He denied that he had compared himself to the Son of God, but that he had only referred to language to be found in the bible itself. He continued at some length in his assault upon the clerical robes of Mr. Hassell and in defence of the name "carpet-bagger."

Mr. Buxton, rep., regretted that this discussion should bring forth crimination and recrimination, matters entirely foreign to the subject itself. He argued that the power to pardon in such cases must rest somewhere, and he deemed this Convention had full and ample powers as the immediate representatives of the people.

Mr. Jarvis moved the previous question.

Mr. Vaughan moved an adjournment, it being 2:30 o'clock, which motion prevailed, leaving the motion for the previous question pending.

A PROBABLE FATAL AFFRAY AT LOUISBURG—A YOUNG MAN SERIOUSLY SHOT.—We learn of an affray at Louisburg, Franklin county, on Wednesday evening, which may possibly prove fatal in its character. Mr. Frank Harris, a young man of that town, became offended with Mr. Jno. Wesley Pleasants, another gentleman of the same town, a carpenter by trade, because of some testimony which Mr. Pleasants had been called upon to give before a Magistrate's Court which had been in session during the afternoon, and as Mr. Pleasants was coming out of the Court House he was accosted by Mr. Harris and words ensued, the lie being passed, and the two fought. They were parted, when Harris again approached Pleasants and struck him, the latter then drew a pistol and fired upon Harris. The ball took effect in the side and immediately below the navel, passing entirely through the body. Mr. Pleasants was lodged in jail awaiting a preliminary examination yesterday.

The condition of the wounded man was not favorable yesterday morning, the chances being against his recovery.

BASE-BALL CHAMPIONSHIP AT THE FAIR.—It is proposed to have a match game of the Base-Ball Clubs of the State at the approaching State Fair. The following letter from the Secretary of the State Agricultural Society was written in answer to a letter from the Newbern club:

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 21, '75.
A. J. Flanner, Esq, Newbern:

DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 11th inst. to hand. I have referred it to the Committee and am instructed to say that they would be glad to have the championship contended for by Base Ball Clubs during the Fair, and would be glad if you will correspond with the Clubs and arrange for such a meeting; you can say for the society that the Clubs will be admitted to the grounds free the day they play, and the winning Club will be presented with a pennant, (as suggested by Col. Whitford) as the prize. The rules which would govern the game would be the same as are used by the Clubs of the United States. I hope you will be able to get up the game; please let me know the prospect.

Yours truly,
JNO. C. WINDER,
Sec'ry and Supt.

The Secretary of the Newbern Club desires that all Clubs wishing to compete for the prize will communicate with the Secretary of that Club at Newbern.

A. CREECH, ESQ.—This gentleman has completed the heaviest purchase for this season he has made at any previous time. The "Marble Hall" is filled to overflowing with one of the largest, best selected and most tasty stock of dry goods, notions, &c., ever placed before our people. We have always found Mr. Creech to be a high toned, estimable gentleman, capable and accommodating, who maintains a magnificent character for probity and fair dealing.

Country merchants can obtain supplies on the most favorable terms and all are bound to be satisfied who deal with A. Creech. Watch the columns of the NEWS for his fall announcement.

THE ROBESON COUNTY CONTESTED CASE.—The Committee on Privileges and Elections yesterday submitted both majority and minority reports in this case, a synopsis of which reports will be found in our regular proceedings. The consideration of the reports were made the special order for Tuesday next at 12 o'clock.—We shall refer to this matter more at length editorially to-morrow.

THE ROANOKE AND TAR RIVER EXPOSITION.—We have received from the Secretary, Dr. H. E. T. Manning, an invitation to attend the sixth annual exposition of the Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society, which is to be held on the 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th proximo. These annual expositions at Weldon have always proved of the most pleasant character, and we doubt not but the one this fall will equal if not surpass that of any former season.

LEWIN W. BARRINGER.—Our advertising columns announce this gentleman as Attorney at Law and Commissioner of claims for the State of North Carolina. He is pursuing his profession with marked success and ability at No. 706 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. Those having business transactions with him can depend on their cause being conducted on the highest principles of honor and integrity.

AN ENTERTAINMENT BY THE ORPHANS.—Nine orphans from Oxford will give a free entertainment at Metropolitan Hall this evening, commencing at 7½ o'clock. The public are respectfully invited to attend, and we cheerfully commend this entertainment to our people, as aside from the pleasure to be derived therefrom, an opportunity is afforded to both encourage and help these orphans.

THE CONDITION OF YOUNG MORRIS.—We are glad to learn that Mr. Morris, one of the young men that were blown up at Durham last week, is rapidly recovering. His left hand was taken off at the wrist and his face is somewhat scared, but he will not lose an eye as at first anticipated.

THE QUESTION OF THE REMOVAL OF EX-GOVERNOR W. W. HOLDEN'S DISABILITIES.—The Convention has been engaged the greater part of the last two days in the consideration of the proposition of Mr. Badger, of Wake, to remove the disabilities of W. W. Holden. The discourse has been almost altogether confined to the Republican side of the house, the Democrats being generally agreed that they are debarred by the act calling the Convention from considering the question at all, it being legislative in its character, and in this view they are sustained by at least one Republican, Mr. Barringer, of Mecklenburg, who yesterday made a speech explaining his position in this matter and stating that he did not endorse the acts of Governor Holden during the days of 1868, 1869, and 1870.

For the first time during the session Mr. Hassell, from Martin, occupied the floor, and his handling of Mr. Tourgee was done in a most handsome manner, causing that delegate to take the floor in a warm defense of his "carpet-bag" cognomen.

The question will come up again to-day as unfinished business. The Democratic members endeavored to bring it to a close yesterday, deeming that a sufficient time had been consumed in its discussion, but Mr. Badger claimed the right to close the argument, and it is understood he will take the floor this morning.

NORTH CAROLINA NOTABLES.—Tom Evans, the correspondent of the Vicksburg Herald, writing from Raleigh, furnishes that paper with the following personal sketch of two notable North Carolinians, now serving the people as members of the Constitutional Convention:

EX-GOVERNOR D. S. REID.

A venerable and distinguished member of this North Carolina Convention is ex-Governor Daniel S. Reid, from the county of Rockingham. He is sixty-three years of age, has been Governor twice, and one time was surprised with the news of his election while at work in the corn-field. He ran for Congress in 1841, was defeated, and in 1843 defeated the same man by two hundred and fifty majority, and in 1845 defeated him by seven hundred majority. He was defeated the first time for Governor, in 1848, by Governor Manly, by eight huudred and seventy-five votes, but in 1850 he defeated Manly by twenty-seven hundred, and in 1852 he defeated John Kerr, the Whig candidate, by five thousand seven hundred votes.

GENERAL CLINGMAN.

General Thomas Lanier Clingman is the ablest man in the Convention, sixty odd years of age, and is the member from Buncombe county. He served several sessions in the old Congress, was a national Senator of much name and note, and went over from the Whig party to the Democracy when ninety Northern Whigs out of one hundred and twenty in caucas at Washington, declared for the Wilmot Proviso and abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia. He was a Brigadier General in Lee's army, was badly wounded, and has left a star that won't set to the name of Clingman's Brigade. He is an excellent talker and is the life of the social circle.

HOW HE LOST HIS HAT.—In publishing the following incident we do not wish to be accused of stealing, although the same thing may have occurred elsewhere:

A citizen of this burg is in misery about his hat. The other day he hung it on a hook just back of a closet door which opens back against the hook. His wife had occasion to rummage around in the closet after he hung up his hat. As often as she pushed that door back, just as often would it fly shut, leaving her alone with darkness. Vexed at last with the persistent contrariness of the thing, she threw her weight against it, and was rewarded by seeing the door go clear back and remain back, just as she wanted it. But when the husband, a day or two later, went to that hook for his hat, what a sight it was, to be sure. Flatter than a drink of ice water on a Christmas morning, more wrinkles in it than in a washboard, and as far removed from any hope of future usefulness as a Keokuk bank. His wife bought a hat rack the next day, and now when he goes into the house she meets him in the hall and points out to him the folly of going up two flights of stairs and hanging his hat behind a door in the attic.

STILL MORE COMPLAINTS.—We regret to learn that only half our mail was delivered at Newton last week. We also have complaints from Roaring Gap, Durham, Macon and some other points of the occasional irregular delivery of the NEWS. We are not disposed to complaint, but our readers are much interested in the proceedings of the Convention and we hope they will have the full benefit of the limited mail facilities accorded to North Carolina. We ask our subscribers to notify us of all irregularities in the delivery of our paper.

"AN IRISHMAN'S LETTER.—Here is an Irish gentleman's letter to his son in college: "My dear Son: I write to send you two pair of my old breeches, that you may have a new coat made out of them. Also, some new socks which your mother has just knit by cutting some of mine. Your mother sends you ten dollars without my knowledge, and for fear you may not use it wisely, I have kept back half, and only send you five. Your mother and I are well, except that your sister has got the measles, which we think would spread among the other girls if Tom had not had it before, and he is the only one left. I hope you will do your honor to my teachings: if not you are an ass, and your mother and myself your affectionate parents.

An Interesting Paper Concerning the University of North Carolina.

The following paper submitted by Prof. Kimberly of the Agricultural Department of the University of N. C., shows the objects and aims of that department:

CHAPEL HILL, Aug. 22, 1875.

To the Executive Committee of the University of N. C.

The instruction in the Agricultural Department will be given in three courses, viz:

I. The Mathematical Course.
II. The Literary Course.
III. The Scientific and Technical Course.

The Mathematical Course includes Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Surveying, Mechanics, Levelling, Drawing, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy and Book-keeping.

The literary course includes English Literature, Physical Geography, History, Logic, Rhetoric, Mental and moral Science, International Law, Constitution of the United States, Political Economy, Composition and Declamation, French and German.

The scientific and technical course includes General Chemistry, Vegetable Physiology, Elements of Botany, Chemical Physics, Qualitative and Quantitative analysis, Agricultural Chemistry, Geology, Mineralogy, Systematic Botany, Practical Agriculture, Meteorology, Entomology, Zoology, Horticulture, Stock and Dairy Farming, Veterinary Science, Human Physiology, History, feeding and care of domestic animals.

The course of instruction in the agricultural department is arranged for three years, but provision is made to instruct students for a longer or shorter period, and in such branches as they may elect. The object of the course is to give the student such theoretical and practical instruction in the different subjects studied as will fit him to understand intelligently the various matters appertaining to the farm.

It cannot be expected that the student in the time allotted will be able to master thoroughly all the subjects included in the course, but sufficient instruction will be given to form a basis on which he may build subsequently, if his inclinations so prompt him.

Instruction will be given largely by lectures, not only by the resident professors, but by practical farmers who have devoted time, study and attention to certain specialties.

The University has some 800 acres of land, which will be brought under cultivation as soon as the means at the command of the institution will admit. A large portion will be devoted to pasture and the cultivation of the grasses; another portion to the cultivation of the staple crops; and another will be reserved for a garden and the cultivation of fruit. The purpose of the farm is to illustrate the teachings of the lecture-room. It will be a part of the apparatus of the institution. Our financial condition for some years to come will not admit of experiments conducted with a view to the investigation of certain natural phenomena; such experiments are costly and imply expensive appliances. Our experiments will necessarily be confined to matters connected with the chemical and mechanical treatment of the soil, the care of stock, the growth of certain vegetable products and things of a similar character. Such experiments will be conducted, not only on the College farm, but under the direction of the Professor of the Department in different parts of the State by men interested in progressive farming. The benefits that will accrue to the farming community by a series of such experiments conducted by careful and thoughtful farmers, with a view to the elucidation of a certain result cannot be over-estimated.

That our system of farming is radically defective in many important particulars, no thoughful man will deny. The discussion of this matter would here be out of place. It will be proper, however, to state the general direction our teachings will assume. We shall endeavor to impress on the minds of our pupils the necessity of growing our home supplies, of diversifying our crops, of cultivating the grasses with a view to sustaining and increasing the fertility of our soils, of improving our breeds of domestic animals, of giving greater attention to the cultivation of fruit, and last but not least, the necessity of labor, economy, faith and perseverance to secure the best results.

In the execution of our plans we hope to receive the sympathy and encouragement of every friend of learning and agricultural progress in the South. From many friends of large heads and large hearts we have received liberal donations. From the nurseries of the State we may confidently expect, as soon as we are prepared, gifts of fruit trees for our orchards, and gifts of plants, shrubs and ornamental trees to beautify the college grounds. The manufacturers of agricultural implements and commercial manures, and the breeders of thorough-bred stock will not forget us. Our chemical laboratories will be well provided with the means for illustration and experiment, and our professors are working men, faithful and enthusiastic in their vocation, and inspired with the hope that the high expectations of the future usefulness of the institution may be fully realized.

Yours Very Repectfully,
JOHN KIMBERLEY,

EFFECTS OF DISSIPATION COUNTERACTED.—Alcoholic excesses cannot be too earnestly deprecated, both of their destructive effects upon the constitution and their pernicious influence upon man's general welfare. At the same time there is little probability that he will cease to indulge in them until the end of time. Common humanity would therefore seem to dictate the suggestion of the most efficient means of counteracting their effects. There is not among medicated stimulants one so admirably calculated to counteract the physical consequences of hard drinking as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which relieve the nausea and headache produced by it, steady the trembling nerves, and yield that unfeverish repose which is the best recuperant of health shaken by excess.—The billious symptoms caused by dissipation are promptly relieved by the Bitters, which are also an excellent remedy for all disorders affecting the stomach, bowels, liver and urinary organs, to which it imparts unwonted irregularity and tone.

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the cheapest paper published in North Carolina. It is only one dollar per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. Always Cash.

THE dog tax in Tennessee is proving a fine thing for the lean treasury of that State. In one county four hundred persons have no other taxable property.

THE Greensboro Patriot says the amendments already adopted by the Convention and those suggested in reference to the Legislature are good. The reduction of per diem to $4; limiting the session; and the ordinance fixing the time of meeting after the holidays, thus avoiding adjournment as heretofore customary, and much consequent expense to the people. This is good work.

THE first masonic lodge of Jerusalem is a beautiful illustration of the cosmopolitan nature of the principles of brotherly love in practical operation. The master is an American, the past master an Englishman, the senior warden a German, the junior warden a native, the treasurer a Turk, the secretary a Frenchman, the senior deacon a Persian, and the junior deacon a Turk. There are Christians, Mahometans and Jews in the lodge.

THE French papers announce the death of the Marquis de Prades Conti, ex-officer of the body guard of Charles X., who had never been ill a day, and who, notwithstanding his great age, retained all his activity. His death was sudden, and was perhaps produced by an excess of gallantry. In stooping to kiss the hand of the Dowager Countess de la Rochepeon, who came to pay him a visit, he fell and expired. He was eighty-two years of age.

IT appears that the heavy field of ice which was the occasion of so much danger and damage in the North Atlantic last spring, was set loose by severe northerly gales from the coasts of Newfoundland and Labrador in the early part of the year. The previous winter had been excessively severe in those regions, so that the ice thus dislodged was extremely dense and compact, and in this way was enabled to drift far to the southward before melting. Heavy field ice was thus met with in the month of April within fifty miles of the latitude of Naples.

HERE is the way in which Governor Ames, the man who misgoverns Mississippi, receives offers of assistance to suppress insurrection and maintain order, thus showing his intention not to avail himself of the assistance at home he professes he cannot obtain. In response to the offer of Gen. Martin, and a number of others of Natchez, to furnish him one hundred and twenty-five armed men, Gov. Ames sends the following curt, rude and ill-mannered dispatch:

JACKSON, Sept. 13, 1875.

Your telegram, tendering armed men to suppress insurrection, received. ADELBERT AMES.

ACCORDING to a careful estimate made by Mr. James Caird, whom the London Times deems high authority, there is likely soon to be a lively demand for American wheat in Great Britain. The decrease in the production of wheat in Ireland and England since last year has been immense, and the amount of wheat required from abroad, it is estimated, will be "11,000,000 quarters," or 88,000,000 bushels. This deficiency is tremendous and must have a favorable effect upon American farmers, for of course a large proportion of the wheat needed by Great Britian and Ireland will be imported from this country.

THE RICHMOND DAILIES.

We must express our thanks, which we have not done, to the courtesies extended to us in a recent visit to Richmond. When the Editor of the NEWS receives the endorsement and encomiums of the Enquirer and the Whig he ought to feel himself made. Two journals that have wielded public sentiment in Virginia for three-quarters of a century journals that have never weakened in character, and at this time uphold the fame of Ritchie, of Pleasants, of Mosely and of those who give fame to Richmond journalism, have been pleased to give their approbation to the Raleigh NEWS in such terms as elevate it into contemporaneous influence and importance. We thank these journals, and also the journals of Petersburg who so kindly and flatteringly welcomed the Editor of the NEWS.

THE following from the Charlotte Observer is correct in its application to the debates at present in the Constitutional Convention in session in this city: "The Texas Constitutional Convention has under consideration the subject of reporting the debates in that body. The importance attached to this portion of the history of the Federal Constitution has always been considered very great, and constituted the leading guide to the true intent and meaning of many portions of that instrument, which would otherwise seem to obscure the objects of which might be in great doubt. This subject might not improperly claim the attention of our own Constitutional Convention, but for the fact that the Radical side of the House have shown it to be their fixed policy to retard the business as much as possible and thus make the people dissatisfied at the slow progress made by that body in the work of reform, and in order to defeat the designs of the Radicals the Democrats appear to have settled upon the policy of giving very nearly all the time during the sessions of the Convention to the speakers of the other side and do pretty much all their debating in caucus, so that any report of the debates would be a rather one-sided affair. The people would hear all that could be said against all ordinances introduced by the Democrats and very little in their favor. The Texas Convention decided to employ a stereographer at a heavy expense. We do not think our own Convention would be justified under the circumstances in following its example."

THE Washington Republican continues to be greatly exercised over the doings of our State Constitutional Convention. Through the fear it entertains of something being done that may damage the future prospects of its party in this State, it can see nothing but "blood and bones" and utter hostility to the negro in every measure proposed. The Republican may rest assured that the Democratic Convention now in session in this city will continue to work, as it has done for the last two weeks, in the interest of the whole people of the State, having no desire or intention to do harm to any person, regardless of his "color or previous condition." It may also rest assured that this same Democratic body intend to thwart the destructive course of the Republican party which it was intended to pursue had it obtained control of that body.

THE Ohio Hospital for the Insane is a most remarkable building. It is on a tract of ground of three hundred acres, two and a half miles from High street, in Columbus. It resembles the letter T. The front measures 1,058 feet and the depth is 560 feet. It covers four acres and has 1,200 rooms. It is to be bountifully supplied with water. The whole is under roof, and the plasterers are going on with their work. About a year, it is thought, will be consumed in completely finishing it up for occupants.

THE Mayor of Wilmington has struck out a new line for the suppression of crime. He announces a determination to dismiss all officers who might be presumed to have been asleep on their posts.

This comes to the point. If officers are alert and faithful there can be little crime. And that crime can be detected and punished.

Too much of the crime of cities is due to the neglect of officials. We will not say how much of crime in this State comes from ignorance and worse. The Convention may correct many abuses. Let it at any rate secure the State against the existence of an ignorant magistracy.

There are eight hundred paper mills in the United States, with a capital of $46,000,000 and producing annually $7,000,000 worth of paper. These figures show that Americans are a reading people.

THE FLOOD AT GALVESTON.

Higher Water than Ever Known Before—Particulars of the Disaster.

GALVESTON, Sept. 20.—During the storm on the 17th the steamship Australian, loaded with cotton for Liverpool, went to sea from the Outer Roads and was driven ashore at St. Bernard, sixty miles West of here. Her surgeon and mate arrived yesterday, and reported the vessel lying in seven feet of water. The bark Edward McDowell, which was discharging at the wharf, was blown over on a point of Pelican Island, in Galveston bay, and is now aground in eight feet of water. It is thought she will be gotten off with slight damage. The bayou steamer Beardstown was driven from the dock, broken to pieces and is a total wreck. A number of her crew is reported lost.

GRANDFATHER AND GRANDSON SWEPT AWAY IN THE FLOOD.

Dr. H. W. Peel, health officer of the port was at the quarantine station with his family on the evening of the 15th. He sent his family to the city, except his little grandson, who remained with him at the station. On the evening of the 16th the storm increased, and the water rose rapidly, carrying away the building, and the last seen of Dr. Peel and the little boy they were in the old fort a short distance from the quarentine station. No tidings have been yet received from them, and it is supposed that both were lost.

TWO DROWNED OUT OF TWENTY-SEVEN.

The government buildings, with all the material on hand which was being used in the construction of gabions for the harbor improvement, were swept away. A number of men employed on the works came to the city on the 15th, and when the water carried away the buildings twenty-seven men clung to the piling through the night, and all except two were saved by tugs. On the following morning the dwelling-houses on the eastern point of the island and along the beach on the south side were considerably damaged by water, and the houses were blown down and washed off in the central and business portions of the city.

THE LOSS OF PROPERTY.

It is estimated that $200,000 will cover all property; very little damage to wharf or on Bay front to the depot to Bay Ridge. Many telegraph poles were blown down. The railroads were badly broken on the Island, culverts all gone and tracks washed off. The bridge stands with the exception of 100 yards of stringers and iron piling remains. It will be several days before they can be repaired. Damage above on the bay and bayous reported very great. Commodore Morgan's fleet of dredge boats reported driven ashore, and a number wrecked at Harrisburg and Houston. Terrific gale and water driven up from the bay higher than ever known before—one hundred miles to the north along the entire coast. It is feared damage has been done at Indianola and western ports.

NEWS FROM HOUSTON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A Herald special from Houston, dated the 19th, says: "As soon as the people saw the storm coming they began to prepare for it. All or nearly all the goods on the lower floors were hoisted to the second and third stories, and thus saved. The damage to goods is very light. On the east end of the island the storm was the severest and did most damage. All the houses down in what is known as the East End are destroyed, or nearly so. The Ocean House is no more. The Texas and Gulf City cotton presses are destroyed; and also the factor's press.—Darby's new block of three-story houses was badly damaged by the wind. The street-car tracks in the East End are torn up and several cars have been demolished. The car buildings are also ruined. Some of the sewers of the city are badly damaged, and some of the outer streets are washed away. A great many houses were unroofed, and a great number of shade trees were blown down. The water has subsided at this time, except what may be standing in the low places.

THE DESTRUCTION OF LIFE in the city was small. It cannot be truly estimated yet, but not more than a dozen lives has been lost. It is supposed not less than $3,000,000 will cover losses sustained in the city. The people whose property was destroyed are being cared for by the city. Nothing has yet been heard from Redfish Bar. From specials at various points it is learned that the

and the crops have been seriously injured. In the city of Austin a great amount of damage was done to the buildings. What is known as the Herkley prarie represents a perfect sea of water, and cattle were seen swimming in several places. Several times the train had to stop and stock be driven from the track on which they sought to keep from drowning. At Hempstead three churches are said to be blown down, and other damage done; loss not known.—Bayou City, with its shaded avenue and floral walks, presents

A SCENE OF DEVASTATION.

Merchants and professional men have suffered very heavily. A gang of men were engaged all day yesterday in hauling cotton, and at dark hundreds of bales had been saved. At the compress the destruction is much greater than at first reported, and those who visited the locality say it must be put down as a total loss.—Bayou water standing aronnd the walls will undermine all the masonry, and necessitate the rebuilding of the whole work. This loss at this season of the year, just when its business is commencing, is the cause of universal regret. The Central railroad track under the compress is broken and under water in several places. The office and warehouse of the Direct Navigation Company are under water, and the extent of damage is not known. At Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Indianola, and other coast towns the loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

William M. Tweed, in Ludlow Street Jail, sees nobody but his family, his physician and his lawyers. Mrs. Tweed visits him daily and his counsel about as often. It is customary at the jail when, for convenience, a prisoner wishes to be out in the pure air for a few hours in the company of an officer to grant him that privilege for a fee not fixed, but assessed according to the amount of the bail, in default of which he is held—a kind of discounting of the risk involved. Mr. Tweed's bail is fixed at $3,000,000, and half a day's liberty in his case would be scheduled at about $100. He has only availed himself of this license once, however, having no money, as one of the order of arrest officers says, for anybody but his lawyers. This solitary instance was a few days after his arrival at the jail, when he went home for two or three hours.—New York World.

Charles Wesley Warren—His Past and His Future.

A correspondent writing from Rochester, New York, to the Knoxville, (Tenn.) Chronicle, gives some additional information concerning the Reverend Copeland who was recently tarred and feathered in Knoxville The correspondent says that Copeland passed six months in a New York Penitentiary, and that he once borrowed $10,000 and went to Europe with another man's wife. Since the Knoxville affair he has written to his brother, dating his letter at Charlottesville, Va., August 13. In this letter he says: "I am safe from arrest in Milwaukee, thank God! and as that is the shadow which has been over me, I hope to stay where I go next. My endeavors to establish myself as a lawyer have resulted in getting a license, and I can be admitted anywhere. I will add that I wrote some articles about the low state of civilization in East Tennessee which incensed the lower classes and lead to the mobbing, doubtless, quite as much as the Johnson articles, not thinking it would be known who wrote them. I think I can make much money this winter out of this outrage by lecturing. Now, Ned, I beg you to write to me at least, and if possible loan me ten dollars."

A terrible story of murder comes from Quelsa, in Italy. A boy was playing near the house of a man named Grandi, and was enticed by him to go inside, by a story that other children were coming to play there. Grandi suggested that he should hide beneath the stairs, and surprise them when they came. He accordingly entered a dark place and lay down; Grandi then seized him by the throat, and tried to choke his cries with earth. The little fellow is strong and his assailant is weak and deformed. They struggled, and Grandi tried to silence him with blows of some weapon on the head. He continued to cry, however, and a woman gave the alarm. To those who arrested the monster he only said that the boy had thrown stones at him. It appears that Grandi's deformity was mocked by the village children. Many bones have been found buried about the house, and some say an entire body. These are being examined by surgeons. A grave, fresh dug, lay open under the staircase, which, there can be little doubt, was meant for the rescued boy.

A Mr. Massey, an English inventor, has completed a framework for a railway carriage, by which he hopes to alleviate the horrors of collisions. It is well known that the splinters of an ordinary carriage, when it is smashed do almost as much harm to passengers as the shock. The idea has already been suggested of employing papier mache as a constructive material, on the ground that it would do but little damage in case of accidents. Mr. Massey proposes to construct the framework and partitions of his carriage of iron hoops put together in a manner which must be seen to be understood, but which reminds us more of an iron bedstead of intricate pattern than of anything else. An elastic framework is thus provided which will withstand a considerable pressure. Of course, it is to be encased with some material more pleasant to come in contact with than "cold iron." The inventor believes that his carriage is also stronger and more economical than those of the present pattern.

Mrs. Lincoln, since her arrival at Springfield, Ill., on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Edwards, has manifested much of her usual cheerfulness, and shows much gratification in meeting old friends, many of whom have called upon her. She rides out frequently, and takes a deep interest in the changes since her former visit to Springfield. Her mind, however, shows no signs of improvement.

INSURANCE.

THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL
Life Insurance Company,
OF HARTFORD.

Incorporated in 1846.

Total Income during 1874, $10,049,013.10.
Total surplus returned to Policy-holders during 1874, $3,037,812 83.
Average per cent surplus returned to policy-holders in 1874, 40.44 per cent.

This percentage of surplus returned is much greater than that of any other company, and more than twice that of several leading ones. It is the legitimate and inevitable result of care in the selection of risks and high rate of interest received from well invested assets. As the actual cost of the insurance to the policy holder is regulated, not by the table rate charged, but by the amount the Company is able to save and return to him from the premium paid this latter item is of the greatest importance. Manifestly the company which is able to return to its policy holders the most surplus premiums, furnishes the insurance at the lowest cost. And this, the history of its policies shows the Connecticut Mutual is actually doing.

Total amount of Surplus Premiums returned from organization to Dec. 31st, 1874.....$27,740,707 67
Surplus Premiums are returned annually commencing at the payment of the second premium.
Total amount of Claims paid from organization to Dec. 31st, 1874.....$20,300,874 53.

THE MOUNTAIN HOTEL,

Its elevated and cool location, in full view of beautiful MOUNTAIN SCENERY; removed from the heat, noise and bustle of the Public square, makes it the most desirable house for the invalid, and equally so for the seekers of pleasure.
Its character as a FIRST CLASS HOUSE, excelling every other in Morganton, is a fact too well known to require further remark; but that, in consequence of the passage of THE ABOMINABLE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL by Congress, it is no longer a PUBLIC INN, TAVERN or HOTEL for the entertainment of the public generally; but is strictly open for the accommodation of such of my friends as choose to call upon me upon such terms per day, week or month as we may agree upon, and to only such persons as I shall deem proper inmates on Happoldt's SELECT BOARDING HOUSE.

FOLEY'S STATUE OF STONEWALL JACKSON.

Its Reception in Richmond—a Grand Occasion.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept 23.—Foley's statue of General Thos. J. Stonewall Jackson, presented to Virginia by Hon. Beresford Hope, M. P. and other English gentlemen, which arrived here last evening from Baltimore, was formally received to-day by Gov. Kemper. The people turned out en masse to witness the reception, the streets presenting a holiday appearance. At 3:30 p. m. the first regiment of volunteers and the veterans of the old first Virginia and the Richmond Howitzers proceeded to the wharfs of the Powhatan Steamboat Co., where the case containing the statue awaited transportation to the Capital. It had been placed upon wagon and was covered with flags of Great Britain and Virginia. Long ropes were attached to the wagon, and at the word of command the veterans of the old first together with a large number of citizens took hold, and with a portion of the present first regiment at the head of the column, took up a line of march. The remainder of regiment and Howitzers bringing up rear. Upon reaching Capital square the wagon was drawn to the front of the steps of the Capital, where Col. Bradley T. Johnson, commandant of the first, formally delivered the statue to Gov. Kemper in a brief speech, referring in feeling terms to the time twelve years ago when he commanded the funeral escort of the true and gallant soldiers who was now being honored by the people of Great Britain. Governor Kemper responded, receiving the statute in the name of the people of Virginia, thanking the soldiers and citizens for the spontaneous honor which had been done to as true a hero as ever trod the earth.

Gov. Kemper then, in the name of Virginia, took possession of the gift, receiving it not more as a great sculptor's work of art than a work of English affection for Virginia and her immortal son. The case was then placed in the basement of the Capitol for the present.

A WISE BOY.—Hurrying down Jefferson avenue yesterday to the depot a man struck a heap of peach skins and fell on his beam ends, and rolled over twice before he stopped. A boy, standing in the centre of the street, anxiously inquired:

"Be you hunting for anything, Mister?"

Come here, bub," said the man as he sat up, "come and get ten cents, and some candy and figs and plums and jubepaste! That's a good boy, come and see me."

"Your intentions may be good," replied the boy as he backed off, "but I guess I'll wait until the other boots ing gets over aching before I get any nearer."—Detroit Free Press.
